

Abstract

A device and method for playing a card game where four game cards are selected for each of a plurality of game hands. To win, a fifth, outcome card must have either a higher or lower value than any same suited game card for each hand.